FORBES ASIA NEXT TYCOONS FORUM FORMULA FOR SUCCESS

Held in Singapore on September 20, 2019, the 6th edition of the Forbes Asia Next Tycoons Forum brought together some 130 members of the next generation of business leaders. Under the theme of “Formula for Success,” the forum provided a platform for these leaders to discuss the issues they face as they take the wheel at Asia’s family businesses, and how they find the right formula for success.

Panelists provided their views on where the smart money is headed and where to park it, as well as discussed what business leaders need to do to make a difference and demonstrate that their company delivers a positive impact. The forum also shed light on how the latest technologies are transforming their businesses and creating new opportunities.

In Conversation | with Ong Ye Kung, Minister for Education, Singapore

At the opening luncheon of the Forum, Minister Ong Ye Kung engaged in a one-on-one dialogue with Justin Doebele, Editor of Forbes Asia. The Minister welcomed the attendees to do business (or more business) in Singapore and gave an update on recent changes in the education system. He also discussed how Singapore is addressing global and regional volatility, and shared insights on the generational leadership transition taking place in Singapore.
